

POLISH RESIDENTS OUT IN FORCE IN HONOR OF PRIEST

Biggest Funeral Procession in Years Accompanies Body
Through Town to Cemetery.

Six thousand Polish residents, members of St. Hedwig and the other congregations of the city, took part in the services which marked the final tribute to Rev. Valentine Czerwinski, for 35 years pastor of the oldest Polish parish in the city, who died Monday suddenly of heart trouble. Nearly 100 priests from all parts of the country attended the service.

After the solemn requiem mass in St. Hedwig church, the cortege, fully two miles long, formed and proceeded to Cedar Grove cemetery, where the burial took place. It was the largest funeral in South Bend in years and gave evidence of the esteem and love in which the late pastor was held by his people.

The service at the church began at 10 o'clock. The great edifice was filled to the doors and hundreds had to remain outside. Rt. Rev. Paul Rhode of Chicago, Polish bishop, was celebrant of the mass, with Bishop H. J. Alerding of Fort Wayne assisting. Bishop Alerding was assisted by Rev. John P. DeGroote, pastor of St. Patrick's, Rev. J. Scherer, pastor of St. Mary's, and assisting Bishop Rhode were Very Rev. Dr. Andrew Morrissey, provincial of the Holy Cross order, of which Father Czerwinski was a member, who acted as honorary deacon, Rev. Dr. John Cavanaugh and Rev. A. Zubowicz and Rev. H. M. Cielinski, who officiated as deacon and sub deacon respectively.

Praised Late Pastor.
Rev. C. Sztuczko, of Chicago, preached the sermon in the church. He dwelt on the life of Rev. Czerwinski, pointing out the virtues which endeared the pastor with his flock. The constructive work of the pastor in building up St. Hedwig parish furnished the theme for an eloquent eulogy by the preacher.

Rev. William Connor was master of ceremonies in the church. As the body was escorted from the church the last rites were performed by Bishop Rhode.

Besides the large number marching in the cortege there were others in 45 carriages. Marion Wesołowski, marshal of the procession, led with his two aides, Thomas Grzegorek and W. Hosinski. Three bands and the marching societies followed.

There was a military escort for the funeral car and the honorary pall bearers also marched in the car. They were Joseph A. Werwinski, Clem Smogor, Stanley Dragus, Michael Haziński, Valentine Zakrowski, Stanley Drejer. Six priests were the active pall bearers.

Interurban cars and all extra city cars which could be pressed into service were used to transport hundreds to the cemetery who did not march in the procession. It was practically the entire Polish population of the city that followed the hearse. Two of the largest factories had closed down entirely and others excused the Polish employees to attend the funeral.

At the cemetery a sermon was preached by Bishop Rhode. To his eulogy of the former pastor, Bishop Rhode added a warning on the "inevitable end" and explained the significance of death. After the Catholic burial rites were performed the procession reformed and made its way back to the city.

As the cortege approached Notre Dame all the priests and brothers there came out to meet the procession.

WHEN LOVE WENT OUT OF EVA'S LIFE LITTLE ARANKA SOUGHT ETERNITY WITH HER INSEPARABLE CHUM.

Staff Correspondence.

CHICAGO, July 3.—"Saul and Jonathan," says the psalmist, "were lovely and pleasant in their lives, and in their death they were not divided."

Eva and Aranka were like that. Eva Weiss and Aranka Nussbaum worked in an apron factory. Their work benches were side by side. The girls, the factory called them "the twins," rather derisively. They had never seen such friendship. It piqued them that Eva and Aranka never gossiped and joked with them at noon time or went along to picture shows on pay night.

Aranka was a frail, timid little creature. She "had no folks"—except Eva, who was father and mother and brother and sister to her, though there was no blood tie.

And Eva was strong and self-reliant. Nobody will ever know all that Eva did for Aranka.

When Eva began "going around" with Jim it saddened Aranka, because he took so much of Eva's time, an d that left her alone. But she reconciled herself to it, because it seemed to make Eva happy.

Then one morning Aranka did not go to work. The two girls appeared at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Sobowicz, Eva's married sister, on Unland st. They talked together in low tones. Mrs. Sobowicz overheard enough of their talk to gather that Jim had gone away, and that Eva simply HAD to have him back.

Eva was utterly wretched and now it was the weak, timid Aranka who comforted her, the strong one. And finally, Mrs. Sobowicz heard Aranka say:

"Well, Eva, if you must go, I'm going, too."

Next morning the police found Eva and Aranka in the little back room of the airless flat, locked in each other's arms, their faces pressed close together—cold in spite of the heat. They were both 20, but in death Eva seemed much older, because of the dark circles around her eyes, made by weeping.

where the open gas jet reached down to where their faces met.

On a table, in a verse of poetry that had been copied in Eva's handwriting, it read:

When I lost you
I lost the sunshine and roses,
I lost the heavens of blue,
I lost the beautiful rainbow,
I lost the morning dew,
I lost the angels that gave me
Sunshine the whole winter through;
I lost the gladness that turned into sadness
When I lost you.

BULLS USE RUMORS TO GOOD ADVANTAGE

Get Control of Market on Strength of Alleged Foreign Demand, But Stories Fail to Stand the Light.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Persistent rumors that a large amount of export business had been done gave the bulls control of the wheat market Thursday, but the resulting gain largely disappeared when diligent inquiry failed to show that the stories had much basis in fact. Latest prices were relatively weak, but 1-4c to 3-8c over last night.

Oats finished 1-8c off to 1-8c up. Wheat a shade lower to 1-8c to 1-4c advance, and provisions varying from 10c decline to a gain of 1-1-2c.

Bullish cables tended to make plausible belief that export trade in wheat was in progress on a liberal scale. Less favorable crop advices came from both Russia and France.

Corn scored a fair advance because of predictions of a lighter movement from the interior and on account of chinch bug damage in Kansas and Illinois.

Oats followed the general course of other grain.

BOY IS DROWNED.
NEWCASTLE, Ind., July 3.—Forest Dean, 18, of Cadiz, was drowned while swimming in Blue river Wednesday.
